Over The Last Week
As of December 20, 2019

Quick Take

- + As we near the end of the holiday season, the S&P 500 and S&P 400 Indexes are both trading near all-time highs. Small-cap equities, which are near 52-week highs, have been very strong during the fourth quarter.
- + The positive momentum of a high percentage of U.S. industries and equity markets around the world is impressive. This widespread participation is a positive driver within the Long-term model.
- Within the Intermediate model, a number of investor sentiment surveys show that optimism continues to creep into the stock market. While not displaying signs of extreme euphoria, it is a concern that we will continue to monitor.

Overall Model Output

A Closer Look at Our Tactical Positioning Targets

Each day, Meeder analyzes and ranks over 70 different factors from our short, intermediate, and long-term models. The dynamic statistical model incorporates factors covering macroeconomic, fundamental, trends and technical analysis to estimate the potential reward and marketplace risk of the equity markets. The Meeder Spectrum, Muirfield, Balanced, Moderate Allocation, and Conservative Allocation funds utilize this strategy for the Defensive Equity portion of their portfolios. The Defensive Equity Strategy guides the allocation of each fund's equity sleeve and the actual proportion of equity investments in any fund will vary depending on the investment objectives of the fund.

Understanding the Defensive Equity Snapshot

The vertical axis of the grid combines the scores of our long-, intermediate-, and short-term models to arrive at the reward value for the stock market. The horizontal axis represents the model's internal measure of stock market risk. The reward value is divided by marketplace risk to arrive at our recommended percentage of Net Equity Exposure.
